THE MANAGER

DOUGIE FREEDMAN

Looking back on the two recent away performances prior to the international break, we were happy with the four points we obtained.

We obviously picked up a valuable win away at Birmingham and a hard-fought point at Blackpool. I thought that the actual performance at Blackpool was equal, if not better, than at Birmingham, where we took our chances well in front of goal.

What was more pleasing was that both our performances merited the end results.

It's always good to head into an international break on the back of a win. That said, after a few weeks of hard training and preparation work on the training ground we're all itching to get back into match action.

On that note we look forward to today's game against Sheffield Wednesday. I'd like to welcome Dave Jones, his staff, players and supporters to the Reebok Stadium.

It's an important afternoon for both sides. Like us, Sheffield Wednesday have found it difficult to win games in the league so far this season, but sooner or later they will turn the corner and we need to make sure that it's not today.

I think our home performances so far have warranted more points than we have accrued. But that is no longer enough and we must now translate those performances into results.

Unusually for us, only two senior players were away on international duty this time round. Chung-Yong Lee has been away with Korea Republic and Adam Bogdan with Hungary. Hopefully those two will come back intact and will join the squad for today's game.

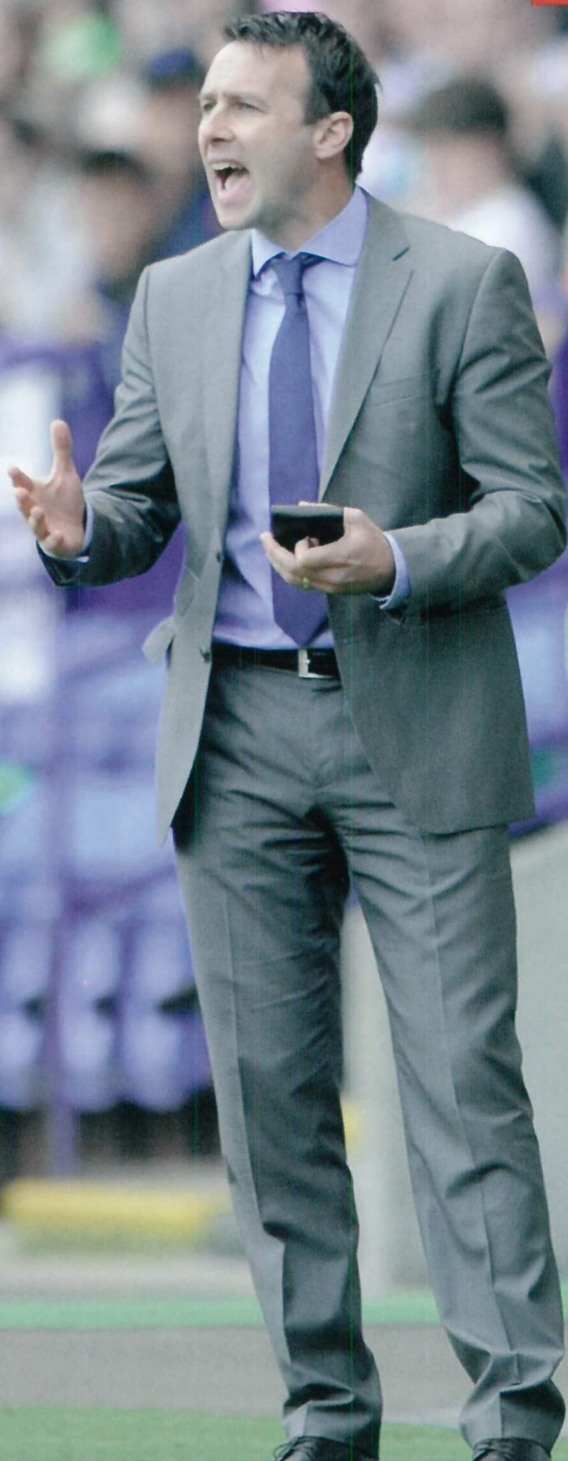

That has helped in our preparations and has allowed us the correct blend of rest and training over the last weeks.

Two or three weeks ago we felt we would benefit from an influx of two or three loan players. The club and board supported us in that quest and we have been delighted with the immediate impact that three players we were able to get in have made.

It is unusual for loan players to make such an impact, even more so given that they have not been playing regularly whilst with their parent clubs' first team. There's now a greater competition for places, which I believe has been reflected in our recent performances.

Hopefully we can pick up from where we left off and send you all home happy this afternoon.

Enjoy the game.

THE SKIPPER

ZAT KNIGHT

We are all really looking forward to getting back into action this afternoon and we want to keep the momentum going and build on our win at Birmingham City.

It would have been ideal to have a game immediately after the match at St Andrew's but we all been in a great mood at training after going three games unbeaten - it is important however that we start turning draws into wins.

We have stopped the losing run and we want the games to start coming thick and fast so we can climb the league table, but we have taken steps in the right direction.

Yes, the last time we played at home the result was disappointing taking into consideration the way we let Yeovil Town score.

We followed up the draw against Yeovil with a well-earned point at Blackpool and we always knew it was going to be a tough game at Birmingham City because they are a good side.

To go there and pick up maximum points in the way that we did was very impressive and hopefully now we can stay in form and keep on going with two massive home games.

The manager has shaken the team up in recent weeks and we welcomed three new players into the squad and they have all made a positive impact.

During the two week break we have recharged our batteries and we are ready for another big push with four games, three of those here at the Reebok Stadium.

We aim to put more points on the board but we are more than aware that the Championship is an unforgiving division.

Anybody can beat anybody at this level and we have already learnt our lesson this season, but I believe everybody at some point will go on a good run but it is important that we keep ours going.

The fans have stayed with the team this season and it will be nice to reward them with three points this afternoon.

We welcome Sheffield Wednesday to the Reebok Stadium this afternoon and they are in a similar position to ourselves at the moment.

They are still looking for their first league win of the season, but today everything could fall into place for them so we are wary of the threat they pose.

We are however concentrating on ourselves and hopefully we can keep on progressing.

Enjoy the game.

ALEX BAPTISTE

IT IS TIME TO GET OUR FIRST HOME WIN

Wanderers' number 15 has been one of the stand out performers so far this season and has surprised many supporters with his goal scoring exploits, hitting the back of the net against Blackburn Rovers, Derby County and Yeovil Town so far this term.

Having started every league game for Dougie Freedman since his arrival at the Reebok from Blackpool in the summer transfer window, Baptiste tasted his first league victory in a Wanderers shirt a fortnight ago in a 2-1 win against Birmingham City at St Andrew's.

Now determined to see Bolton record their first win at the Reebok in the 2013/14 campaign, Baptiste believes that it won't be an easy ride against Dave Jones' Sheffield Wednesday who are now the only team in the Championship without a victory.

"We have got two homes games coming up now in the next seven days and we want to crack on and get back playing football," said the 27-year-old.

"We believe they are two winnable games but we are more than aware that they will be tough, starting with Sheffield Wednesday this afternoon. It is important that we get our first home win of the season.

"It was a good performance against Birmingham City - it was massive to win just before the international break. It was a great time to win and hopefully now we have got the ball rolling in the right direction.

Baptiste also paid tribute to the club's recent loan acquisitions, with the midfielder explaining that their inclusion in the starting line-up has added another dimension to Wanderers' style of play.

"Kevin McNaughton has been a different class at right back and Liam Feeney put in a man of the match performance last time out and as a full back he is a nightmare to play against because he is so direct.

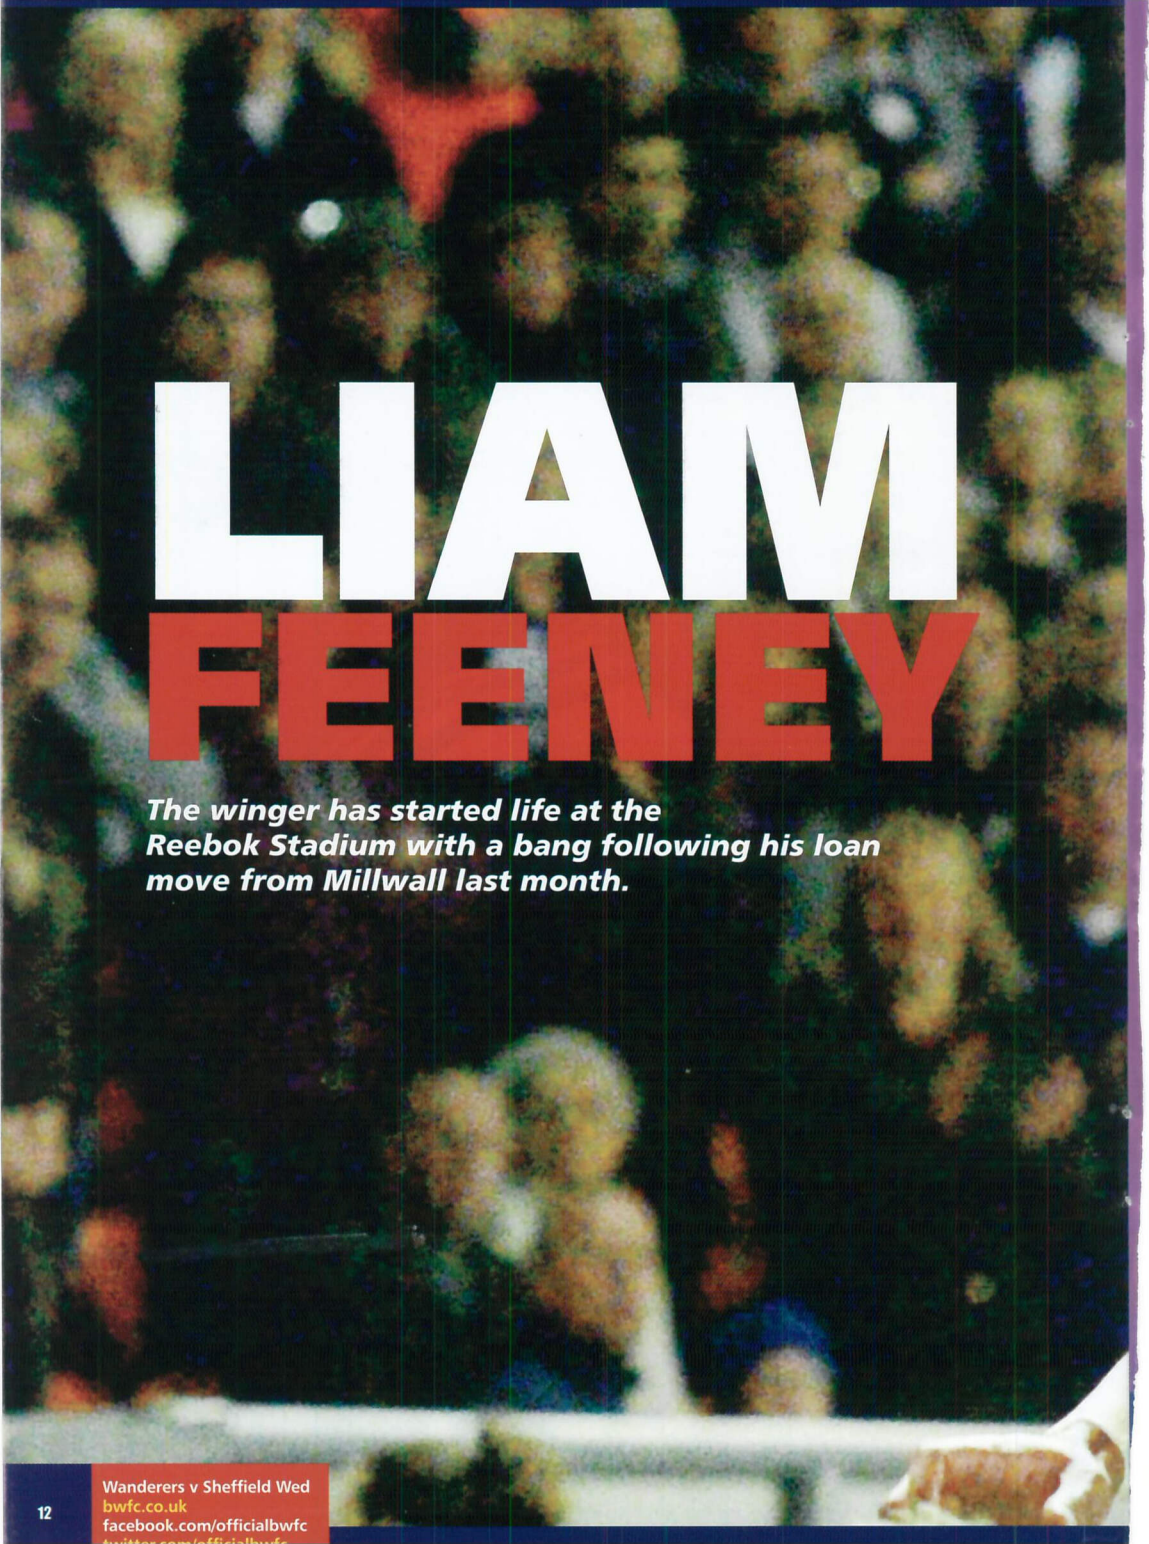

He added: "Neil Danns has also played an important role and has already got on the score sheet so they have all been great additions to the squad."

Following on from the team's hard fought victory in the Midlands, the former Mansfield Town man admitted that this afternoon's clash with the Owls couldn't come soon enough for the players as they look to build on recent impressive results.

"We have all wanted the games to start again," he confessed. "The break has given different people time to recover because we have played six tough games.

"Hopefully now we will see some injured bodies come back in and we will go again this afternoon."

LIAM FEENEY

The winger has started life at the Reebok Stadium with a bang following his loan move from Millwall last month.

ONE ON ONE

WITH LIAM FEENEY

One of three new faces to walk through the entrance door at the Reebok Stadium in September, flying winger Liam Feeney is thoroughly enjoying life in the North West so far after his loan move from Millwall.

Having made a blistering start to life as a Bolton Wanderers player, Feeney has wasted no time in making his name at the club with two impressive performances on the right hand side of midfield against Blackpool and Birmingham City.

The 26-year-old, with an assist already to his name, has instantly become a favourite with the Bolton faithful and will be hoping to maintain his unbeaten run as a Wanderers player with three points against Sheffield Wednesday this afternoon.

"As soon as I found out about Bolton's interest and the move looked a possibility, then it was always going to be an opportunity that I was going to jump at straight away," he told Wanderers matchday programme.

"Bolton Wanderers are a great club and I have enjoyed the last few weeks. It was an easy move for me to make - opportunities were not coming my way at Millwall and the manager [Dougie Freedman] told me he wanted bring me here on loan.

"It is a fresh challenge and I am looking to do well for the club for as long as I am here. I am enjoying my football again and the manager has given me a great opportunity at a fantastic football club.

"The lads have made me feel welcome from the off and I would also like to thank the fans for the support they have given me because it does go a long way.

He added: "It was good to get an assist against Birmingham City and it is my job to help the team score goals. To set one of my team mates up is just as pleasing as scoring a goal for me and I take a lot of pride from that."

Since his arrival in BL6, Feeney has helped Wanderers go three games unbeaten in the Sky Bet Championship and claim their first win of the season with an encouraging 2-1 victory against Birmingham City last time out in front of the Sky cameras.

"The right performance has been coming for a while now," he continued. "We scored two good goals against Birmingham and I am pleased to say that I was involved in the second.

"Looking at the games that we have played, we have taken five points from three games so that shows we are taking steps in the right direction. We want to get into a habit of winning matches on a consistent basis."

Formerly of Bournemouth, who are coincidentally Bolton's next opponents on the road in 14 days time, Feeney wasn't the only one to join the Reebok ranks in September with Neil Danns and Kevin McNaughton also signing temporary deals.

"Bringing in new faces can help," he explained. "There are many different reasons why players go out on loan but personally I was eager to play football and I know Neil and Kevin were the same.

"New players can add fresh enthusiasm and two or three extra bodies can help cope with injuries. It has given the manager different options.

"We have got a really good manager and the squad is strong, however the Championship is an unforgiving league and nobody has a divine right to be winning at this level.

"Anybody can beat anybody and teams will have blips throughout the course of the season but hopefully we have got ours out of the way and we will be strong for the remainder of the campaign.

"If we can find the consistency the club had towards the end of last season then all of sudden we will start climbing the table."

Born in London, Feeney had never played for a team north of the capital city before joining up with Dougie Freedman's side ahead of the last home encounter against Yeovil Town.

Having plied his trade at non-league level before getting the opportunity to shine in the professional game, Feeney admitted he had no qualms about uprooting and moving to unfamiliar surroundings.

"I didn't know any of the players too well before I signed so for me it was a brand new opportunity," confessed the winger in his first interview with the matchday programme.

"It was like the first day at a new school but the lads were excellent and made me feel welcome straight away. I have settled in quickly and I feel like I have been here for a long time.

"It can be seen as being a daunting task to move but I was fine. As a footballer you are never at home because it is part of the profession and you know that one season you could be playing up north and the next down south or even abroad.

"As a youngster all I wanted to do was play football and even at school during the dinner hour I was playing.

"Football was and still is my life and I am grateful I can call it my profession.

"I started out playing for Hayes' youth team alongside studying at college. After college I moved up to the first team before I left the club to join Salisbury City in the Conference where I spent a further two seasons before I got an opportunity to play in League Two with Bournemouth.

"We won promotion to League One and narrowly missed out on the play-offs during my time at Bournemouth so overall I had a good few years.

"I went on to play for Millwall and even though the first year was good I found my chances limited from thereon in.

"Last year was a frustrating one but you have to have the self-belief and willingness to work hard or you will not get anywhere. I would like to think that my work ethic has helped me become a professional footballer."

Goal of the month

Academy graduate wins club's monthly award Bolton Wanderers supporters have voted Zach Clough's strike against Blackburn Rovers' Under 21 side as the club's goal of the month for September.

The 18-year-old finished off a superb team move to hand Wanderers the lead in the 3-0 victory, with the action having originally started in Bolton's own half before Clough fired home.

Guillermo Torres' strike for the Under 18s against Arsenal finished in second place, with Alex Baptiste's goal against Derby County in third.

JAY UP FOR PLAYER OF THE YEAR

Jay Spearing has been shortlisted for the Championship Player of the Year accolade at the upcoming North West Football Awards.

The club's own Player of the Year during the 2012/13 campaign, the tenacious midfielder impressed during his initial loan spell at the Reebok Stadium last season before signing permanently in the summer.

Having been whittled down from an extended list of nominations, Spearing will now battle it out with Blackburn Rovers striker Jordan Rhodes and Blackpool winger Thomas Ince for the title at the ceremony on November 4.

Disappointment for Adam Bogdan, landmark cap for Chung-Yong Lee

Adam Bogdan and Hungary eventually came up short in their quest to qualify for next summer's World Cup, despite victory over Andorra on Tuesday evening.

Bogdan was an unused sub in the 2-0 win in Budapest, which ultimately saw Hungary finish two points adrift of second placed Romania, who secured the play-off spot in Group D.

The Netherlands were runaway leaders of the group and eventually finished nine points clear of Romania. They signed off their qualification campaign with a 2-0 victory away at Turkey.

Elsewhere, Chung-Yong Lee earned his 50th cap for Korea Republic in their 3-1 friendly win over Mali in Cheonan. Chung-Yong played 70 minutes in total and assisted two goals.

Both players are set to link back up with the Bolton squad towards the end of the week.

UNDER18s

Youth team coach David Lee believes he will learn a lot about his players today as they look for a positive response against Everton following their poor display against Middlesbrough in their last league outing.

The club's youngsters suffered a 5-0 defeat against the Teesside outfit at Lostock a fortnight ago, leaving Lee frustrated with their display as they remain in search of their first victory of the campaign.

"I was very disappointed with the overall performance," admitted Lee in an exclusive interview with Wanderers matchday programme.

"We don't tend to look at the results, but from an individual point of view for the players they didn't perform on the day.

"They let themselves down and when things don't go the right way, we have to look at the character of the players and unfortunately their characters didn't shine through."

As the first team host Sheffield Wednesday this afternoon, the club's youth team will be in action away at Everton - a team that Lee holds in high regard as one of the best academy teams in the country.

"We have assessed where we went wrong and we are looking for a response - we are only as good as our last game.

"Our last result hurt everybody involved, but we have to move forward now and the players will learn from their experiences - we have had an extra week working on our game because of the international break.

"Everton are a decent outfit and for me they are the benchmark of academy football - they have a good philosophy and infrastructure.

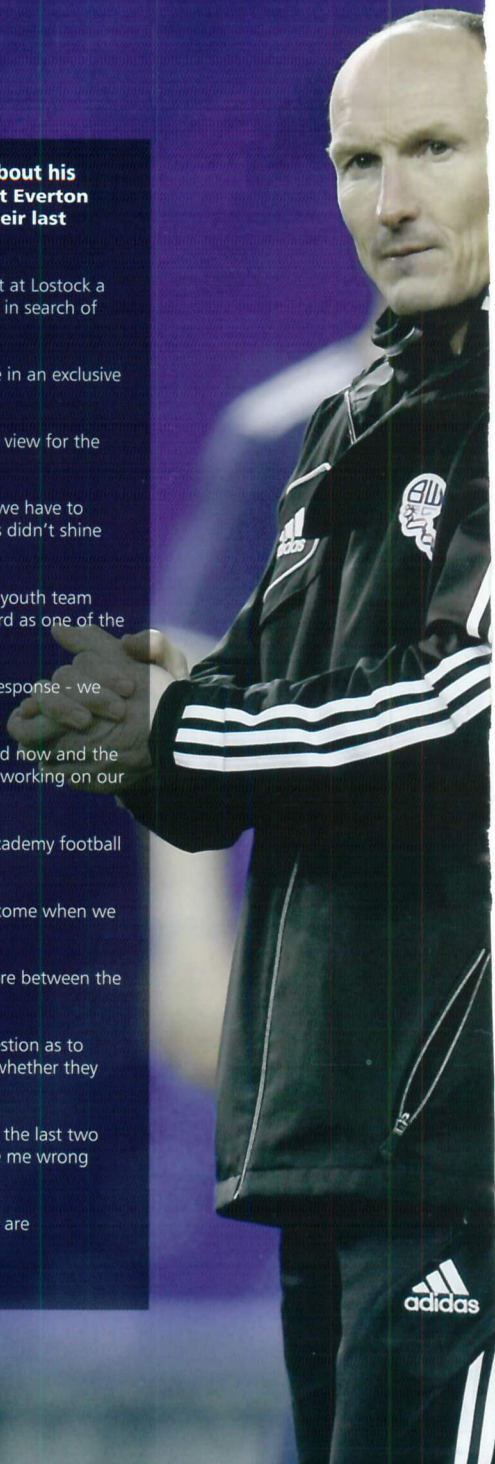

"They have recruited good players and it will show how far we have come when we play against them or on the other hand how far we are away."

He added: "With it being a local team hopefully the rivalry will be there between the two sides.

The players are all looking forward to the game and I can ask the question as to whether or not the characters of the players have been built up and whether they learnt from the disappointment of the Middlesbrough game.

"We will learn a lot about the players when they play Everton and for the last two weeks they have all been fighting for a starting place to try and prove me wrong after my thoughts from the Middlesbrough defeat.

"They need to put in a performance for themselves to show that they are decent players."

DEVELOPMENT SQUAD

Wanderers' Under 21 side will be hoping to get back to winning ways against Blackpool on Monday afternoon after failing to emerge victorious in their last two outings.

The club's youngsters travel to the seaside to face the Tangerines in the Lancashire FA Senior Cup, with the players keen to experience that winning feeling once more after a barren spell of almost a month.

Having secured their first victory of the season with an emphatic 3-0 victory over Blackburn Rovers back on September 23, the team then slipped to a 4-0 reverse against Manchester United in the Manchester FA Senior Challenge Cup on home soil a week later.

Being pitted against the likes of Red Devils' first teamers Wilfried Zaha and Fabio da Silva, Jamie Fullarton's side were ultimately second best on the night as strikes from William Keane, Adnan Januzaj, Larnell Cole and Zaha condemned them to defeat.

It was a case of déjà vu for Wanderers and almost a carbon copy of their last clash with United, where Keane, Tom Thorpe and a brace from highly rated prospect Jesse Lingard earned the hosts a 4-1 victory at the Salford City Stadium back on September 16.

A plus point on an otherwise difficult night for the team however was the performance of Wanderers' goalkeeper Jay Lynch, with the academy graduate pulling off a number of impressive saves to keep the deficit down under the floodlights at the County Ground.

Following such an emphatic defeat at the hands of their local rivals and with a point to prove, the Under 21s travelled up to the North East on Monday 7 October to face a Newcastle United side who had experienced mixed fortunes of their own during the opening months of the campaign.

The Magpies had entered the clash on the back of a 4-3 victory over West Bromwich Albion, but United's inconsistent form of three defeats, a draw and two victories in their opening six games gave Wanderers' youngsters hope of success.

Any reservations prior to kick off were banished almost immediately however, with it being clear to see that there were no lasting after-effects of the heavy cup defeat as Tom Youngs, Conor Wilkinson and Jan Gregus all went close to handing Wanderers the lead in the opening stages.

Having commandeered proceedings throughout the first half, a goal seemed to be imminent and the Whites did duly oblige just two minutes after the restart through Youngs.

With that elusive victory seemingly imminent, Adam Armstrong was to break Bolton hearts as he pulled Newcastle back onto level terms late on in the game.

Despite ultimately having to settle for a point, the display by the team was certainly encouraging following such a test of their resolve against the Red Devils.

With a cup clash against Blackpool next on the agenda, the Under 21s will no doubt be looking to go one better than their first team counterparts who played out a stalemate at Bloomfield Road at the start of the month.

POST-MATCH REACTION

Dougie Freedman on bwfc.co.uk

"If we'd had a little more luck tonight which I think will come because I think we're only an inch away, we will win games like that. Anybody who knows about football can see that during these past three or four games that we're very, very close."

Jay Spearing on bwfc.co.uk

"We came to Blackpool knowing it would be a tough test but we got our game going and we played some good stuff throughout the game. We put Blackpool under a lot of pressure."

Alex Rae on blackpoolgazette.co.uk

"The most pleasing thing for me and the manager is that we got back to a clean sheet. "We pride ourselves on that. Clean sheets give us a real foundation to build on."

48 – Darren Pratley pounces on a poor pass in the Blackpool half to release team mate Jermaine Beckford through on goal but the striker's placed effort comes back off the post.

82 – Beckford is yet again denied as his close range header is clawed away by Blackpool's in form custodian.

83- USA international Tim Ream hammers a right footed volley from inside the penalty box over the frame as Bolton continued to push for the game's opening goal.

POST-MATCH REACTION

Dougie Freedman on bwfc.co.uk

"We came here to compete against a team who are in-form of late and played some fantastic football. We passed and moved the ball well and were very brave in our play."

Lee Clark on BBC Sport

"They're just individual errors from two lads who have been brilliant for us all season. They're human beings, we all make mistakes. Unfortunately for the two lads, their errors have cost us goals."

Jermaine Beckford on bwfc.co.uk

"It was our first three points of the season, unfortunately it took us a while to get there but we fully deserved to win the game and it was long overdue."

63 – Wanderers double their advantage as Neil Dannis is the quickest to react to Darren Randolph's tame clearance to direct a header into the roof of the goal.

68 – The hosts pull one back as Birmingham's giant Serbian centre forward Nico Zigic loops a header over the head of Bogdan

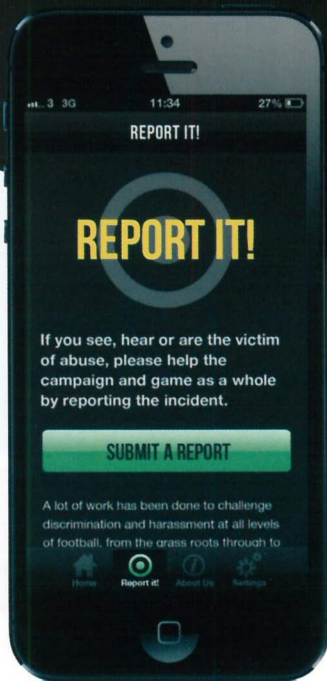

87 – Birmingham call for a late penalty as they feel Reilly's shot from the edge of the penalty area was handled however referee David Coote disagreed.

Important New Signing

Phil Mason discusses in his latest column how the club have made an important signing that will help the local community.

Bolton Wanderers are pleased to announce that the club are now working alongside Urban Outreach in Bolton.

A charity which aims to help and support people who are left struggling, Urban Outreach uses various projects to give people a voice and purpose in life and values them for who they are.

They provide practical support for families who have multiple problems and offer innovative solutions in support, rehousing and resettlement of both male and female offenders.

What's more, they also advocate, provide mediation and support women who want to exit prostitution and support children and young people who have been reported missing from home in Bolton and their families.

The Urban Outreach programmes delivers peer mentoring for young people in schools, helps to sustain accommodation for roofless and homeless people and provide food parcels for people experiencing temporary financial hardship.

Last Christmas, our own USA international Stuart Holden became linked with the charity and Holden's Gifts of Hope helped with the collection of much needed food for the Storehouse project, which in turn helped create food parcels which were delivered to those that need it most.

Following the collection of the food, Stuart and his brother Euan went to help create Christmas hampers to deliver for people who had very little for the festive period and also helped out at Winter Watch by helping to provide homeless and roofless people with company, food, clothing, housing information and sessions with hairdressers and chiropodists.

Stuart himself was delighted to hear that Urban Outreach is our chosen local charity and has urged everybody to get behind them as they seek donations for their vital work within the community.

To find out how you can donate, please visit www.urbanoutreach.co.uk/donate.

Together we can help people.

A large action shot of Paul Warhurst, a Sheffield Wednesday player, in a white Reebok kit with black trim, running on a football pitch. The background is a blurred crowd of spectators.

PAUL WARHURST

AN INTERESTED SPECTATOR

A name which supporters of both Bolton Wanderers and Sheffield Wednesday will associate with some of the most iconic moments of their clubs' recent history, Paul Warhurst is a man with an impressive back catalogue of achievements.

Having developed a reputation as a versatile player throughout his career – despite initially making his name as a defender, he was often used as both as midfielder and a striker – Stockport-born

Warhurst enjoyed successful spells at Hillsborough and the Reebok Stadium during his two decades in the game.

Now retired as a professional, the 44-year-old has continued his affiliation with football by forging a career in player management – an industry he admitted is incredibly rewarding to be involved in.

"After I stopped playing, I went to work for a company in London but left there about 18 months ago and set up my own company in Manchester with three friends," he explained.

"I'm really enjoying it – it's great to see the young players we have coming through and establishing themselves."

Originally a product of Manchester City's academy, Warhurst's own career started out with a move to Oldham Athletic at the age of just 19, with him going on to secure a Second Division championship medal during his three years at Boundary Park.

It was clear to see from the outset that he had a bright future ahead of him, with Sheffield Wednesday swooping to bring him to the Steel City in the summer of 1991.

A seemingly straight forward move, Warhurst revealed that his career could have panned out very differently had Wednesday's timing not been as it was.

"The move actually came of the blue as I was on a flight back from Celtic where I'd gone for talks," he admitted. "I'd literally just landed back at Manchester Airport when I got the call from Trevor Francis, the manager at the time, asking me to go over, so I went to Sheffield the following day and the rest is history."

His decision to stay in England was certainly vindicated during his two seasons with the Owls, with the team reaching both the finals of the League and FA Cup back in 1993.

Despite both trips to Wembley ultimately ending in heartbreak however, the former England Under 21 international confessed that his time in Sheffield was unforgettable.

"I was lucky to be involved in a really good team – we had a great run in the league and in both cups, so I've got really fond memories of my time there.

He added: "I played alongside some fantastic players like Viv Andersen, Nigel Pearson and Nigel Worthington, but Chris Waddle was a different class."

After his successful stint with Wednesday came to an end, moves to Blackburn and Crystal Palace followed, with Warhurst being involved in Rovers' memorable title winning season in 1995.

Once based in the capital however, homesickness struck – but Wanderers were on hand to hand him a lifeline.

"My family were based up in Manchester and they'd struggled to settle down in London, so I'd been constantly on the look out to move back up north," he said. "Colin Todd brought me to the club on loan initially and then signed me permanently."

Once back in his beloved North West, Warhurst's impressive record at clubs continued as the Whites went on to secure two trips to Wembley and a promotion winning visit to the Millennium Stadium during his five years at the Reebok Stadium.

With Sam Allardyce replacing Todd in the managerial hot seat shortly after his move however, he was keen to pay tribute to the man better known as Big Sam.

"He came in and more or less turned the club around from top to bottom," he enthused. "He was very scientific in everything he did and brought a lot of new stuff in.

"He was very deep in his thoughts regarding sports science and we were quite successful with it – obviously getting to the Premier League and staying there like we did was a great achievement.

"I also got to play alongside some amazing players – you had your stalwarts like Gudni Bergsson and Jussi Jaaskelainen, but then you had your flair players like Youri Djorkaeff and Jay-Jay Okocha who were brilliant."

Having played his part in helping Wanderers return to the top flight, the latter stages of his time at the club were unfortunately blighted by injuries which resulted in a move onto pastures new in 2003.

Despite his spell with the Whites ultimately ending somewhat prematurely however, Warhurst still holds the club close to his heart.

"I had some really good times at Bolton – I did struggle a bit with injuries which was disappointing, but I've been unlucky throughout my career with them

"I've got some great memories of my time with the club, especially because it was the place I stayed the longest at, and I wish them all the best for the future."

Today's game will be the 101st time that Bolton Wanderers have faced Sheffield Wednesday in league action as both teams look to climb up the Championship league table.

The Owls are the only team in the second tier still in search of their first league win but maximum points this afternoon for Dave Jones' side will see them leap above Wanderers in the table.

After back-to-back draws against Brighton & Hove Albion and Ipswich Town, Wednesday will travel to the Reebok Stadium looking to claim their second successive win over Dougie Freedman's men.

On Boxing Day 2012, the Owls recorded a 1-0 victory courtesy of a solitary goal from Mamady Sidibe with 25 minutes of the game gone.

Enjoying their second season back in the Championship after winning promotion from League One in 2012, boss Dave Jones will be looking for an improvement on last season's 18th place finish.

So far however, things haven't gone according to plan for the three time FA Cup winners as the blue half of the Steel City have lost four and drawn six of their opening ten league games, as well as being knocked out of the Capital One Cup at the first hurdle by Yorkshire rivals Rotherham United.

In recent months, Jones has added a wealth of experience to his squad with no less than seven players coming in alongside dipping into the loan market to draft in Roger Johnson from Wolves and Hull City's Matty Fryatt.

With encouraging draws already recorded at Brighton, Middlesbrough and Leeds United, Wednesday have shown they are capable of holding their own on the road.

STAR MAN

Now in his third season with Sheffield Wednesday, Michail Antonio is billed as one of brightest young prospects in the Championship.

The 23-year-old winger joined the Owls on a permanent deal in 2012 from Reading after impressing on loan in the club's League One promotion winning season.

The pacey attacker started his career with the Royals in 2008 as a trainee and enjoyed successful loan spells away from the Madjeski with Cheltenham, Southampton, Colchester and Wednesday.

During his initial loan spell at Hillsborough, Antonio made a huge impact and helped Wednesday to finish in second place and a point above Steel City rivals Sheffield United to ensure the Owls would be playing Championship football during the 2012/13 campaign.

His performances persuaded boss Dave Jones to sign the winger ahead of the club's return to the second tier and Antonio didn't let his boss down, chipping in with three assists in their opening three games.

The London born winger went on to be the club's top goalscorer with nine goals last term, including an important strike against Yorkshire rivals Hull City in a 3-1 victory at the KC Stadium.

Unfortunately Antonio's season was cut short due to a recurring groin injury but the Owls did enough to secure survival, finishing in 18th position and four points above the drop zone.

Following his struggles at the back end of last season, the ex-Reading man regained his fitness in time for the start of the 2013/14 and scored in the club's last outing against Ipswich Town at Hillsborough.

THE BOSS

A stalwart of English football management with over a decade of experience, Sheffield Wednesday boss Dave Jones has managed a number of clubs in the Football League including Southampton, Wolves and Cardiff City.

Born in Merseyside, Jones started his playing career at hometown club Everton in 1974 and developed a reputation as a tough tackling centre half.

It was as a manager however that Jones caught the eye with his success at Stockport County before joining Southampton in 1997.

Spending three years on the south coast, Jones picked up the LMA Premiership Manager of the Year award in 1998 but departed the club only two years later.

It wasn't long until Jones found his way back into the management as he was offered the top job at Wolves in 2001, where he helped the Midlands outfit return to the top flight in 2003 via the play-offs.

Wolves' stay in the Premier League was short lived however as they immediately returned to the First Division after one season, finishing bottom of the table.

The now 57-year-old left Molineux five months later with Cardiff City his next port of call where he was in charge for six years, suffering a series of near misses in the hunt for promotion to the Premier League.

Away from the league, Cardiff historically reached the FA Cup, losing to Portsmouth at Wembley in 2008 courtesy of a strike from Nwankwo Kanu.

Unable to take the Bluebirds into the Premier League, Jones departed the Welsh outfit and one year later took control of Sheffield Wednesday where he guided the Owls back to the Championship in 2012.

HISTORY

Having originally formed as a cricket club in 1820 and known as 'The Wednesday', the team then went on to establish a football team in 1867 – a statistic which now makes the Owls one of the oldest teams in the Football League, behind only Notts County, Stoke City and Nottingham Forest.

Unsurprisingly, given their name, the club was formed on a Wednesday during a time that most games were actually played on that day as many of the local residents were given the afternoon off work.

Simply known as 'The Wednesday Football Club' during the first six decades of their existence, the club became Sheffield Wednesday in 1929 and were given the nickname of 'The Owls' due to their origins from the Owlerton area of the city.

The team's infamous ground Hillsborough was also originally christened as Owlerton, but the decision to change the name was taken in 1912 with the ground going on to host games during the 1966 World Cup.

Now known as the largest English ground outside of the Premier League with a capacity of just under 40,000, Wednesday's iconic stadium was the stage of one of the most harrowing events in the history of the game with the well-documented Hillsborough disaster in 1989.

In the aftermath of the tragedy, the decision was made that all clubs in the upper divisions of the English game must have all-seater stadiums.

Prior to their move to Hillsborough, Wednesday in fact played games at Bramall Lane – the now the home of their fierce cross-city rivals Sheffield United.

The games between the two, known as the Steel City Derby, are usually tight affairs with United currently holding the upper hand in the fixture with 45 wins in comparison to Wednesday's 42.

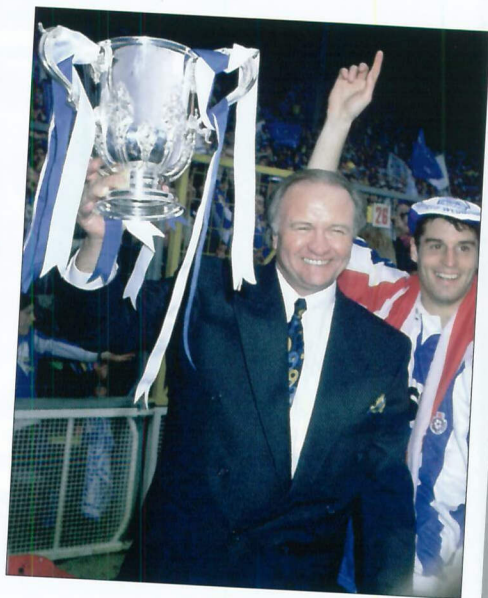

The Owls however achieved their first double over United in 95 years back in 2009, winning 2-1 at Bramall Lane and 1-0 at Hillsborough.

Wednesday have won the English First Division on four occasions, making them the joint seventh most successful team in the Football League with Chelsea and Newcastle United.

Alongside this, they remain the only team to have won the competition under different names, winning their first two titles as The Wednesday before changing to Sheffield Wednesday for their final two.

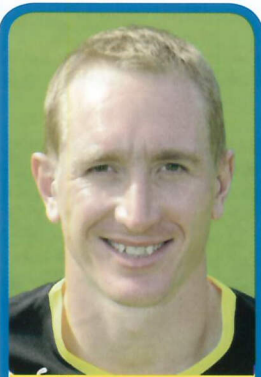

The club have also won the FA Cup on three occasions, with their most recent piece of silverware coming in their solitary League Cup trophy win in 1991.

Wednesday have not enjoyed the same success in recent years however with them slipping from the Premier League to the third tier of English football, but the Owls did return to the second tier in 2012 after finishing runners up in League One behind Charlton Athletic.

Local community side Positive Chances FC faced a Bolton Solidarity Community Association team at the Eddie Davies Football Academy earlier this month in a specially arranged fixture.

Positive Chances are funded by the BIG lottery fund who do extremely good work in the local community and run a weekly sports club aimed at increasing physical activity for young people in areas of deprivation.

The match was scheduled for Saturday 5th October by the team's head coach Geoff Williams, project co-ordinator Adam Warriner and the club's two assistant coaches Jordan Whittle and Nathan Bell.

With the tension mounting before kick-off the game began with Positive Chances starting the game well and holding their own against their experienced opponents.

This was the first time the team had played an eleven a side game together and for many of the younger players in the team it was the first time they had played a game on a full size pitch. Positive Chances defended with real authority and withstanding any attack thrown their inside the opening quarter of an hour, however Bolton Solidarity's pressure paid off as they scored the opening goal of the contest.

Positive Chances responded well to the set back and continued to hold their own against difficult opposition.

Into the second half the team didn't stop fighting and were rewarded for their efforts with a goal in the 54th minute as the match finished level at 1-1.

The whole day was a fantastic experience for everybody involved and this is just the beginning for Positive Chances Football Club with talks ongoing about hosting a five-a-side tournament alongside a regular training session on a Thursday.

Speaking about the game, Ben Laycock, Head of Community Cohesion at BWFC said: "The pitch at the Eddie Davies Football Academy was built for the community and it is great to see it being used to aid both the community cohesion and benefit the community as a whole."

Wanderers Pair Go Back to School

Wanderers stars Alex Baptiste and Liam Feeney went back to school last week as they visited The Gates Primary School in Westhoughton to take part in an after-school football session delivered by Bolton Wanderers Community Trust.

The two players spent their time participating in basic drills which focused on a variety of skills such as ball control and dribbling before demonstrating their own keepy-uppy tricks to the group of children.

Alex and Liam rounded off their visit to the school by posing for photographs and signing autographs.

Speaking after attending the session, Alex said, "I always enjoy getting out and about in the community and meeting those who support us every week. This is my first community visit since joining Bolton in the summer and all the children we met this afternoon were very enthusiastic and all seemed to be learning a lot from the class. Who knows, we may find a future Wanderers star amongst them!"

For more information about BWCT's after-school courses please email enquiries@bwfc.org.uk

Sanmi Gets Involved at Disability Football Session

Wanderers striker Sanmi Odelusi was a surprise guest when he popped along to a coaching session for Bolton Wanderers junior disability football team last week.

The Whites youngster helped deliver the coaching session alongside the BWCT coaches and then got involved in a few small sided games before finishing his time with the team by answering a few questions and offering some tips and advice to the teenagers.

Following his session with the young adults, an enthused Sanmi said: "Tonight's session has been a great experience for me and I really enjoyed meeting all of these young footballers and hopefully I can come back in the future and help out with these sessions again!"

Organised by Bolton Wanderers Community Trust, the weekly disability football sessions take place at Smithills Leisure Centre on Wednesdays for under-16s and at Bolton Arena for open age players on Fridays.

Both sessions run between 5pm-6pm and new players are always welcome. To find out more, call Paul Roberts on 01204 673 790.

Bolton Wanderers' famous International Soccer School was yet again across shores with an early autumn trip to Poland.

It was a fourth year in a row the Whites had sent a coaching team across to Poland and yet again the sessions proved to be a huge success.

During the club's time in the central European country, there has been an excess of 1000 players participating between the ages of six to 18.

This year's soccer camp was held in Wronki, which is approximately one hour away from Poznan, one of the largest cities in Poland.

Wanderers were given permission to use the facilities of Lech Poznan, six time winners of the Polish First Division. The selected venue is where the club's U18s train.

In total 60 players took part in this year's soccer camp aged between six and 12 with the camp being held in association with the Football Academy who the club have been linked with for the past five years.

The Football Academy have in the past brought players over to the Reebok Stadium for team and match day visits, with players having gone on to compete in the World Grand Skills Final.

Throughout the years, with the aid of our own coaching and testing methods, we have selected a pool of players at U10 level who now play nationally for the Football Academy.

During the weekend of the soccer camp, the youngsters played for Lech Poznan U10s in a friendly and proudly came out 4-3 winners.

International Soccer School Manager Dave Bailey said: "The soccer camps are full every time we come to Poland and with the players' standards improving and the coaches' appetite for learning the programme increasing, we will keep on growing and go from strength to strength."

NEXT UP AT THE REEBOK

IPSWICH TOWN

East Anglian outfit Ipswich Town are the next side to travel to BL6 later this month to take on Dougie Freedman's men.

Now managed by Mick McCarthy, the Tractor Boys have started the season well and find themselves in 11th spot, just five points off the Championship's play-off positions.

During the month of October, McCarthy's men have collected two points on the road including an entertaining 4-4 draw against Derby County at Pride Park. However, Town will be disappointed not to have won the game, having let a 4-1 half time lead slip against the Rams.

Their final match before the international break took place at Hillsborough against today's visitors to the Reebok Stadium, Sheffield Wednesday. Yet again, Town led courtesy of Paul Anderson but the hosts quickly replied through a Michail Antonio header as the game finished 1-1.

Former Sunderland and Wolves boss McCarthy has steadied the ship at Portman Road since taking over from Paul Jewell in November 2012 and despite threats of relegation, the 54-year-old guided the Blues to a respectable 14th position last term.

Now in his first full season in charge at Portman Road, McCarthy spent the summer months remoulding his squad by adding 12 new faces to the ranks in Suffolk with the most notable signings being those of defender Christophe Berra, tireless midfielder Jay Tabb from Reading and Nottingham Forest's former energetic frontman David McGoldrick.

Having won four games so far, Town are yet to record a win on the road in 2013/14 with all their points so far coming at home, with Yeovil, Brighton, Millwall and Middlesbrough all suffering defeats at Portman Road.

Before venturing to the Reebok Stadium in seven days time, Town will face arguably their toughest test on home soil so far with early pace setters Burnley the visitors this afternoon.

Following his side's draw with Sheffield Wednesday, Mick McCarthy told the Ipswich Town website he was pleased with his side's performance

““I'm delighted with the point. We were excellent in the first-half and had to show a different side to our game in the second-half in terms of defending.

“We had to be tough and resolute and especially on the back of the second-half at Derby, I thought we were terrific and defended really well.

“There was no hangover from Derby and that pleased me obviously but they are a great set of lads.

“We played some good football in the first-half and were the better side.

They came back into the second and like I said, we had to dig in but we did that – and did it well.

“It's been a good week. Two away games and points to show from both. It could have been more but that's football.” **”
